Biography

JasMatazz is a multi genre electronic DJ and producer from Devon. Born and raised in France, she first got into music at a young age due to her musically inclined family; Her mum plays multiples instruments and is part of a couple of bands, she equally taught JasMatazz to play the piano when she was little which helped kick start her love of music. As she got older, JasMatazz and her friends starting going to illegal raves most weekends where her deep love for tekno and other electronic genres was founded. Back in 2024, JasMatazz decided to move to Devon to study music production at Exeter College where she equally learnt to DJ around that time with the help of some of her friends. She's deeply passionate about electronic music and DJing and hopes to make a career out of it. Currently working on developing her own music for her DJ sets, she hopes to one day play that music at festivals such as Glastonbury and Boomtown. Having already played events and free parties, JasMatazz has developed an energetic, happy and bouncy style with her mashup of catchy hard bounce remixes, funky acid teckno and wobbly basslines that always get the crowd dancing! JasMatazz's music is generally influenced by lots of different genres and producers/DJs. Such as Brutalismus 3000, Paraçek, DJ Bax and Darth Leng. JasMatazz can balance a bottle of water on her head for the entirety of Amygdala's set at Bristek Her love of Hardbounce is equal to her love of cheese (which is great)
