Biography

Emanuele Costanzo, known as Costi, is a Rome-based DJ born in 2005, focused on House and Tech-House music.
His musical journey began three years ago with the discovery of House music, sparking a strong interest in its sound and the culture of clubbing.
His sound revolves around contemporary House and Tech-House, characterised by deep basslines, infectious grooves and engaging rhythms. His selections blend groovy and underground influences, with particular attention to sound quality, fluid transitions and the development of dynamic sets designed to maintain continuity and energy on the dancefloor.
Throughout his journey, Costi has performed at venues and events such as Utopia OpenAir and The Sanctuary in Rome. He has also recently reached the finals of the Tour Music Fest in San Marino. Alongside his DJ career, he is taking his first steps into music production, aiming to further develop and shape his own distinctive sound.
With his sights set on the international electronic music scene, Costi continues to pursue his artistic journey with the ambition of establishing himself through music, new experiences and creative projects.
