Biography

Empty Space are a four-piece rock band from Upholland, Lancashire, blending driving rock, blues-rock influences and a touch of Americana into a distinctive, energetic sound. Built around original songs, big melodies, gritty guitars and a powerful live presence, the band combine their own material with carefully chosen covers that sit comfortably alongside their originals. With a sound rooted in rock but drawing influences from blues, roots and Americana, Empty Space bring an engaging, unapologetic performance designed to connect with audiences. Whether on a festival stage or in a live venue, they deliver music with energy, character and a genuine love of playing live. Empty Space are keen to bring their music to new audiences and are always looking for exciting opportunities to perform.
