Biography

Croatia-based DJ Krunoslav Nerad, performing under the name jaxxpot, began his journey into electronic music in the late 1990s. Inspired by hip-hop during high school and early techno events in his hometown, he made his public DJ debut in 2006 on the local television show Nucleus. Performing early on as Housejaxx, his energetic house selections earned him early residencies at clubs such as Valinor and Scotch, as well as a local Graffiti festival, establishing his reputation for quality underground sound.

Over the years, he collaborated with local event organizations like the Esaa Association and Expressed Movement, sharing stages with prominent Croatian and international acts. His international debut took place in 2011 at Neuraum Club in Munich, the same year he adopted the moniker Jaxx Pot. Having explored diverse electronic styles while organizing local events, he now focuses his sets on progressive house while continuing to experiment with his foundational techno roots, a refined balance reflected in his studio mix series, Confessions.
