Biography

SHAGAN is an electronic live and world fusion project composer, sound producer, and multi-instrumentalist Vladislav Shagan. The project explores a wide stylistic spectrum, weaving together ambient, trance, and experimental soundscapes. At the heart of SHAGAN is an integration of traditional heritage and forward-thinking production, bringing historic global elements into dialogue with contemporary sound design.

Central to this acoustic and electronic fusion are organic instruments and vocal styles, including the ancient Chinese guzheng, traditional percussion, various flutes, and overtone throat singing. By combining these deep cultural roots with progressive electronic music, Vladislav Shagan crafts rich, immersive performances. The result is a distinct, cohesive sound that builds a compelling bridge between ancient global ethno-traditions and modern electronic composition.
